10 Read this magazine article. Are the statements true (T) or false (F)?

Last month we asked our readers to write and tell us about a special relationship in their lives. Thank you to everyone who wrote in; we enjoyed reading all your stories. Over the next few weeks, we'll be publishing some of your entries.

A friend for life

My friends have always been incredibly important to me as I'm an only child but one friend in particular, Clare, has always been special to me. We've known each other for almost twenty years and we met when we were both teaching at the same school. As soon as she introduced herself I knew that we would be friends. It was clear that we were very much on the same wavelength and had a lot in common - we're both very keen on sports amongst other things and after a couple of months we decided to share a flat together.

What is it that makes her such a good friend? Well, she's totally dependable, funny, tolerant, generous, kind-hearted and almost always upbeat. I can honestly say that in all the years I've known her we've hardly ever fallen out and if we have an argument, we make up very quickly. I really enjoy her company and we can spend hours together just messing around. We have the same sense of humour and spend a lot of time laughing at the silliest things.

Unfortunately, I had to move away recently because I'd been offered a new teaching job. I was worried that we might lose touch as we're no longer in the same country but we've managed to stay as close as ever. Clare is really good at keeping in touch with her family and friends and thanks to phone and email we're able to speak or write to one another almost every day.

Last year she invited me to Canada during the summer holiday to spend time with her family. It was so good to see where she grew up. Her childhood was so different from mine as she was brought up in the country while I grew up in a big city. She's the oldest of six children and the only one who didn't stay close to home so when she goes home she has a lot of catching up to do.

I can't imagine her not being in my life and I must say that I feel incredibly lucky to have her as a friend.

10 Read these film reviews and choose the correct answers.

Avatar (2009)

One of the most successful films of all time, Avatar (directed by James Cameron) tells the story of a reluctant hero who sets off on an epic adventure to save the alien world he has learned to call home. Now available in 3-D and 2-D this visually spectacular film is a must-see for all the family with important messages for both young and old.

The Proposal (2009)

An ambitious and obnoxious boss (played by Sandra Bullock) hears that she will have to return to Canada as her visa has run out. To avoid deportation, she forces her young assistant (Ryan Reynolds) to marry her so that she can stay in the United States legally. After many crazy adventures to prove to his family that they do actually love one another, they finally really fall in love. This is a good old-fashioned feel-good comedy which is the perfect vehicle for both stars.

A Nightmare on Elm Street (2010)

As a fan of horror films, I was looking forward to this remake of the Wes Craven cult classic which first appeared on our screens almost twenty years ago. Terrifying when it first came out, this remake, however, doesn't compare in any way. The special effects are laughable and the acting is wooden. I'd recommend watching the original any day and I certainly hope they don't bother to remake the others.

The Young Victoria (2009)

Nominated for three Academy Awards and winner of Best Costume Design, this is a perfectly crafted period drama. The film stars Emily Blunt as the young Queen Victoria and Rupert Friend as her husband Albert. It tells the story of the first few years of her reign with all the dramas and emotions that a young woman in her position would have to face. The acting by both young stars is excellent and totally believable.

The Notebook (2004)

If you enjoy sickly sweet romantic films that unashamedly tug on the heart strings to make you cry, then this is most definitely the film for you. From the moment the film begins you know where it is taking you. Boy meets girl. Boy is poor and girl is rich. Girl's parents don't approve. Fast forward to years later ... Have your box of tissues to hand!

The Bourne Ultimatum (2007)

This is the third in the Bourne series starring the excellent Matt Damon. Filmed on location in Tangier, London, Paris, Madrid, Berlin and New York City, the story is fast-paced but to my mind rather confusing. My concentration was disturbed by the hand-held camera effect which meant that the film was constantly 'shaking'. I appreciate that this was supposed to heighten the tension but I found it almost impossible to focus in places.

Hi Ben

How are you and how are the children? (0) _____ b_____ I can't believe it's September and I've already been here for a month. I'm sorry it's taken so long to write to you but I had to wait for my computer to be connected to the Internet. (1) _____

I can't remember if you've been to Prague before but I can honestly say that it's one of the most beautiful cities I've ever seen. (2) _____ Although the centre is touristy, there are lots of green spaces so it doesn't feel too crowded and of course there's a river as well so that gives you a sense of space.

I decided to wait until I got here before looking for somewhere to live because I wanted to get an idea of what the different neighbourhoods were like. I think it's hard to make a decision without seeing a place first so I spent a couple of weeks with Jana when I first arrived and was lucky to find a small apartment in a residential area near the city centre. (3) _____ As you know, I really enjoy going out in the evenings so this is ideal because I can walk home most of the time and it's only a couple of stops on the tram or metro.

The flat's on the fourth floor with a great view over an enormous square. At night it's pretty quiet but during the day the square's always bustling with lots of people. There are lots of traditional street cafés and bars so there's a great atmosphere and I often go downstairs to have a coffee and read the paper. (4)

I've got two bedrooms as well as a large living room so you must come and stay. (5)

I've already discovered lots of interesting places so there'll be plenty for you to do.

Write soon and let me know your news.

10 Read these money saving ideas on a web forum and answer the questions.

Luke

I'm a student so I really can't afford to waste money. I have a part-time job during term time and then work full-time during the holidays. Even then it's hard but if you shop around, you really can find some good bargains. I always go shopping at the end of the day when a lot of food is reduced because it has reached its sell-by date. It's amazing how much you can save that way.

Marek

I've just moved to the UK. When I arrived I didn't have any furniture but someone told me about the 'freecycle' scheme and I've managed to get almost everything I need without spending any money. Basically, if you have something you don't want any more, you advertise it on the freecycle website and then anyone who wants it must agree to come and collect it. No-one makes any money so it really is a good exchange.

Akiko

I love shopping but I also enjoy buying things that are good value for money so I always wait until the sales are on. In some shops you can get as much as 70% off if you go at the right time. I probably don't save any money in the end though as I usually buy more things because I'm so pleased to have got a bargain!

Stella

We live way out in the country so I don't often manage to get to the shops and to be honest, I don't really have the time but if I do need something, I check out the price comparison websites and of course eBay. At first I was a little nervous about shopping on-line but now I'm hooked.

Jon

A lot of people these days seem to buy clothes, wear them a couple of times and then give them to charity shops so that's where I do my shopping. You can get some really good stuff and you know that your money is helping other people so it's a win-win situation in my opinion.

Paul

I must admit I don't think too much about how or where I shop but the one thing I try to do is save money on electricity and gas in the house. In the winter when it's really cold, instead of turning up the temperature I put on another sweater and I close the doors. I encourage the children to turn off the lights when they leave the room and we don't leave the TV or computer on standby as that uses up unnecessary energy.

atmosphere location menu prices recommendation service

One of the things I enjoy most about travelling is that I get the chance to visit restaurants all over the world. I have been very fortunate over the years as I have tried all kinds of regional delicacies and specialities.

0 location

Earlier this year my wife and I spent a few days on the Black Sea coast in Bulgaria. One of the highlights of our trip was an evening at a traditional restaurant which had wonderful views over the sea. The restaurant itself was right in the centre of the old part of the town and you could only get to it on foot.

1 _____

As soon as we arrived, we were welcomed by a charming waiter, Georgi, who showed us to a table in the window and immediately offered us a welcome drink. Although the menu was in English as well as Bulgarian, we asked for some recommendations as we didn't recognise any of the dishes. Georgi kindly explained what the specialities of the restaurant were so we took his advice and ordered a good variety.

2 _____

The food was excellent. We had a selection of starters or 'meze' including a yoghurt and cucumber salad, salami, vine leaves stuffed with rice and meat and a dip made of aubergine and mayonnaise, all served with freshly baked bread. We both had grilled fish and salad for the main course and this was followed by 'baklava', a deliciously sweet dessert made of nuts, pastry and syrup.

3 _____

The restaurant filled up quite quickly after we arrived. There was a band playing traditional music for most of the evening. This wasn't to everyone's taste but it was certainly very lively and colourful.

4 _____

When the bill came I was pleasantly surprised. I had expected to pay more considering the popularity of the restaurant and its situation. I suppose you might have to pay more during the summer when there are lots of tourists but it was a very good deal for us.

5 _____

For anyone interested in experiencing the true taste of Bulgaria, I think this would be an ideal place to go. I would, however, suggest eating early if you don't like loud music during your meal.

- 10 Read this magazine article.

Read the article quickly and tick the best summary (1-3).

- 1 It tells the story of Susan Boyle's life and rise to stardom as a singer.
 - 2 It argues that we shouldn't judge people until we get to know them.
 - 3 It uses the story of Susan Boyle to show that we often judge people by appearances.
- Don't judge a book by its cover

Most people agree with this well-known saying but few follow its advice. For the truth is that, whether we like it or not, our brains are programmed to make immediate judgements based almost solely on first impressions. Scientists argue that this is a survival mechanism which dates from humanity's early history - a time when the world was full of danger and it was necessary for people to make instant life-or-death decisions. The strength of our tendency to judge by appearances has recently been illustrated by the incredible story of Susan Boyle, an unemployed Scottish woman who shot to international stardom after appearing on a TV talent show. Her appearance on the show became one of the most popular videos on YouTube, with more than 200 million viewings. Her debut CD sold more than 9 million copies within six weeks of its release. In fact, Boyle's appearance on Britain's Got Talent was one of the most memorable and surprising moments in recent TV history. Most of the performers on the talent show are young hopefuls. Some have talent but many are simply good-looking youngsters who dream of becoming pop stars but have no musical ability or background. On one particular show, a rather plain, middle-aged woman with an unflattering hairstyle and an old-fashioned dress appeared on stage. If you watch the YouTube clip, you will see what happens next .. , The audience looks bemused - what is someone like this doing on a show where most contestants are in their teens or early 20s? In a strong Scottish accent, the woman tells the judges that her name is Susan, she comes from a small village near Glasgow, she's 47, and wants to become a professional singer. The audience prepares itself for an embarrassing display by another self-deluded wannabe. What hope does someone like this have of becoming a star? Then Susan opens her mouth and begins to sing. A gasp of amazement goes up from the audience, for the contrast between her homely appearance and powerful soaring voice is almost overpowering. They begin to clap and scream. Within a few moments, most of the audience are on their feet, giving Susan Boyle a standing ovation. For many viewers, it was the unexpected dichotomy between Boyle's physical appearance and her prodigious talent that was so memorable. But why should it be such a shock that someone like Susan Boyle can have a wonderful and rare talent? The truth is, however sophisticated we believe we are, we still make instant judgements based purely on outward appearances. If someone doesn't look beautiful, we still find it difficult to believe that they can have a beautiful voice. Last month we asked our readers to write and tell us about a special relationship in their lives. Thank you to everyone who wrote in; we enjoyed reading all your stories. Over the next few weeks, we'll be publishing some of your entries.

1 What are convenience stores?

2 What is sometimes surprising about these places?

3 Who usually works in these stores in London?

4 How do these stores find employees?

5 How are family members paid for their work?

Asian Shopping

Visitors to London, New York and Los Angeles often remark on how easy it is to buy (1) things at any time of the day. It isn't the well-known department stores, large supermarkets or huge shopping malls that they are talking about but those tiny shops (2) ____ Americans call 'convenience stores' and the British call 'corner shops'. They may not always be situated on corners, but they are certainly convenient for tourists and for those city-dwellers who work long hours and don't have time to shop during the day. As people in large cities work longer and longer hours the availability of late-night shopping has become a necessity rather than a luxury. (3) other thing that sometimes causes surprise is that these shops are rarely owned or staffed by local people. The English-sounding names of 'Super Saver', 'Bargain Supplies' or 'Mini-market' b Replace the underlined words and phrases in the sentences (1-8) with words and phrases from the article. 1 Harrods is a famous department store in London. 2 They've just bought a large house. ____ 3 People who live in the country are sometimes more relaxed than people who live in a city. 4 We hardly ever take holidays. ____ 5 The government is considering changing the law on people moving to this country from another one. ____ 6 My parents own and manage a dry cleaning business. ____ 7 I have never understood the financial basis of international trade. ____ 8 The origin of the River Nile is in Uganda. give no clue to the origin of the people working inside the store. In fact, they often seem to be staffed by (4) people from various parts of Asia. Their nationalities often reflect the history of immigration to the country concerned, and they frequently come from nations with a reputation for successful trade and shop-keeping. In New York and Los Angeles it is often Koreans and Chinese who run these stores and in London it is people from the Indian sub-continent. But what are the economics of such places? How can tiny shops make any profit when employees have to be paid to work (5) such long hours? (6) answer lies partly in the Asian culture of hard work, but is mainly due to the tradition of the extended family. This is very different from the typical Western family in which the individual members have separate lives and careers. When (7) Asian family owns a shop everyone gets involved - brothers, sisters, uncles, aunts, cousins, grandparents and children - everybody is expected to work behind the counter. Thus there is (8) guaranteed source of staff available to work from early morning until late at (9) night. And rather than being paid salaries, the members of the family simply share in (10) profits at the end of the year. It is a recipe that has brought wealth to many immigrant families and made life a lot easier for those of us who run out of milk at 11 o'clock on a Sunday evening!

- 2 Why is the weight of the sculpture significant?
- 3 What happens to 90% of Europe's electronic waste?

Sculpture of Guilt

I love shopping but I also enjoy buying things that are good value for money so I always wait until the sales are on. In some shops you can get as much as 70% off if you go at the right time. I probably don't save any money in the end though as I usually buy more things because I'm so pleased to have got a bargain!

There is 'Weee Man', a terrifying metal and plastic sculpture created by Paul Bonomini from discarded computers, electronic components and domestic products. Commissioned by the Royal Society of Arts (RSA), the sculpture stands 24 feet (7 metres) high beside the river Thames in London and serves as a shocking reminder of the huge amount of waste produced by today's extravagant high-tech society. The main body of the figure includes three washing machines, five fridges, seven vacuum cleaners, 35 mobile phones and 12 kettles, plus assorted microwaves, televisions, radiators and sections of ducting and cabling. The artist has ingeniously created the head from a combination of surprising elements. The teeth are in fact computer mice, the eyes are washing machine doors and the ears are satellite dishes. The name of the sculpture, 'Weee', comes from the phrase Waste Electrical and Electronic Equipment, and its weight, 3.3 tonnes, is the same as the weight of electrical equipment thrown away by an average person in a lifetime. The RSA hopes that the sculpture will encourage recycling by dramatically reminding us of the sheer quantity of products we throw away unnecessarily. Citizens of the European Union currently produce 6.5 million tonnes of electronic waste a year, most of which ends up in landfill sites or is incinerated. A mere 10% is recycled.

Last month we asked our readers to write and tell us about a special relationship in their lives. Thank you to everyone who wrote in; we enjoyed reading all your stories. Over the next few weeks, we'll be publishing some of your entries.

A friend for life

My friends have always been incredibly important to me as I'm an only child but one friend in particular, Clare, has always been special to me. We've known each other for almost twenty years and we met when we were both teaching at the same school. As soon as she introduced herself I knew that we would be friends. It was clear that we were very much on the same wavelength and had a lot in common - we're both very keen on sports amongst other things and after a couple of months we decided to share a flat together.

What is it that makes her such a good friend? Well, she's totally dependable, funny, tolerant, generous, kind-hearted and almost always upbeat. I can honestly say that in all the years I've known her we've hardly ever fallen out and if we have an argument, we make up very quickly. I really enjoy her company and we can spend hours together just messing around. We have the same sense of humour and spend a lot of time laughing at the silliest things.

Unfortunately, I had to move away recently because I'd been offered a new teaching job. I was worried that we might lose touch as we're no longer in the same country but we've managed to stay as close as ever. Clare is really good at keeping in touch with her family and friends and thanks to phone and email we're able to speak or write to one another almost every day.

Last year she invited me to Canada during the summer holiday to spend time with her family. It was so good to see where she grew up. Her childhood was so different from mine as she was brought up in the country while I grew up in a big city. She's the oldest of six children and the only one who didn't stay close to home so when she goes home she has a lot of catching up to do.

I can't imagine her not being in my life and I must say that I feel incredibly lucky to have her as a friend.

Avatar (2009)

One of the most successful films of all time, Avatar (directed by James Cameron) tells the story of a reluctant hero who sets off on an epic adventure to save the alien world he has learned to call home. Now available in 3-D and 2-D this visually spectacular film is a must-see for all the family with important messages for both young and old.

The Proposal (2009)

An ambitious and obnoxious boss (played by Sandra Bullock) hears that she will have to return to Canada as her visa has run out. To avoid deportation, she forces her young assistant (Ryan Reynolds) to marry her so that she can stay in the United States legally. After many crazy adventures to prove to his family that they do actually love one another, they finally really fall in love. This is a good old-fashioned feel-good comedy which is the perfect vehicle for both stars.

A Nightmare on Elm Street (2010)

As a fan of horror films, I was looking forward to this remake of the Wes Craven cult classic which first appeared on our screens almost twenty years ago. Terrifying when it first came out, this remake, however, doesn't compare in any way. The special effects are laughable and the acting is wooden. I'd recommend watching the original any day and I certainly hope they don't bother to remake the others.

The Young Victoria (2009)

Nominated for three Academy Awards and winner of Best Costume Design, this is a perfectly crafted period drama. The film stars Emily Blunt as the young Queen Victoria and Rupert Friend as her husband Albert. It tells the story of the first few years of her reign with all the dramas and emotions that a young woman in her position would have to face. The acting by both young stars is excellent and totally believable.

The Notebook (2004)

If you enjoy sickly sweet romantic films that unashamedly tug on the heart strings to make you cry, then this is most definitely the film for you. From the moment the film begins you know where it is taking you. Boy meets girl. Boy is poor and girl is rich. Girl's parents don't approve. Fast forward to years later ... Have your box of tissues to hand!

The Bourne Ultimatum (2007)

This is the third in the Bourne series starring the excellent Matt Damon. Filmed on location in Tangier, London, Paris, Madrid, Berlin and New York City, the story is fast-paced but to my mind rather confusing. My concentration was disturbed by the hand-held camera effect which meant that the film was constantly 'shaking'. I appreciate that this was supposed to heighten the tension but I found it almost impossible to focus in places.

Hi Ben

How are you and how are the children? (0) _____ b _____ I can't believe it's September and I've already been here for a month. I'm sorry it's taken so long to write to you but I had to wait for my computer to be connected to the Internet. (1) _____

I can't remember if you've been to Prague before but I can honestly say that it's one of the most beautiful cities I've ever seen. (2) _____ Although the centre is touristy, there are lots of green spaces so it doesn't feel too crowded and of course there's a river as well so that gives you a sense of space.

I decided to wait until I got here before looking for somewhere to live because I wanted to get an idea of what the different neighbourhoods were like. I think it's hard to make a decision without seeing a place first so I spent a couple of weeks with Jana when I first arrived and was lucky to find a small apartment in a residential area near the city centre. (3) _____ As you know, I really enjoy going out in the evenings so this is ideal because I can walk home most of the time and it's only a couple of stops on the tram or metro.

The flat's on the fourth floor with a great view over an enormous square. At night it's pretty quiet but during the day the square's always bustling with lots of people. There are lots of traditional street cafés and bars so there's a great atmosphere and I often go downstairs to have a coffee and read the paper. (4) _____

I've got two bedrooms as well as a large living room so you must come and stay. (5) _____

How to ...

1 describe a restaurant

Complete the text with the correct words.

Luigi's is a new restaurant in a prime location on the main square. The atmosphere in the evenings is very pleasant as there's live music from 9 o'clock. There's a varied menu with lots of local dishes. The restaurant specialises in fish and vegetarian food. Last week when I ate there the service was very slow because our waitress was new but she was very friendly. We all had three courses and drinks and when the bill came we found the prices quite reasonable so I will definitely go there again.

One of the things I enjoy most about travelling is that I get the chance to visit restaurants all over the world. I have been very fortunate over the years as I have tried all kinds of regional delicacies and specialities.

0 location

Earlier this year my wife and I spent a few days on the Black Sea coast in Bulgaria. One of the highlights of our trip was an evening at a traditional restaurant which had wonderful views over the sea. The restaurant itself was right in the centre of the old part of the town and you could only get to it on foot.

1 _____

As soon as we arrived, we were welcomed by a charming waiter, Georgi, who showed us to a table in the window and immediately offered us a welcome drink. Although the menu was in English as well as Bulgarian, we asked for some recommendations as we didn't recognise any of the dishes. Georgi kindly explained what the specialities of the restaurant were so we took his advice and ordered a good variety.

2 _____

The food was excellent. We had a selection of starters or 'meze' including a yoghurt and cucumber salad, salami, vine leaves stuffed with rice and meat and a dip made of aubergine and mayonnaise, all served with freshly baked bread. We both had grilled fish and salad for the main course and this was followed by 'baklava', a deliciously sweet dessert made of nuts, pastry and syrup.

3 _____

The restaurant filled up quite quickly after we arrived. There was a band playing traditional music for most of the evening. This wasn't to everyone's taste but it was certainly very lively and colourful.

4 _____

When the bill came I was pleasantly surprised. I had expected to pay more considering the popularity of the restaurant and its situation. I suppose you might have to pay more during the summer when there are lots of tourists but it was a very good deal for us.

5 _____

For anyone interested in experiencing the true taste of Bulgaria, I think this would be an ideal place to go. I would, however, suggest eating early if you don't like loud music during your meal.

Day 12: Lake Baikal, Siberia

Well, here I am in Listvyanka on the shores of Lake Baikal, the deepest and biggest freshwater lake in the world and I must say it's absolutely freezing! I arrived yesterday afternoon after a couple of days in Irkutsk, my first stop on this Trans-Siberian adventure. The journey so far has been amazing.

I left Moscow on Saturday and didn't see anyone apart from the train guard who very kindly came into my compartment every evening to make up the bed. You might think that the time would drag being alone but this wasn't the case. It went really quickly as I spent my time reading, dreaming and looking out of the window at the endlessly barren vistas. The snowy expanses are so dramatic at night when the full moon shines from cloudless skies so it isn't totally dark, even in the middle of nowhere.

The hotel I'm staying in now is huge and I get the feeling that I'm the only guest which is quite spooky in a way. On the first night I had supper in the restaurant and was served by three different waiters who all stood around my table looking at me. I suppose they were all desperate to do something but I couldn't really relax and enjoy the food.

After a good night's sleep, I got up early this morning and put all my warmest clothes on as I decided to go for a walk along the shore. The water is beginning to freeze and the ice is moving out into the lake. People say that in the old days they used to lay railway tracks over the ice so that trains could cross the lake. Can you imagine how thick the ice must have been? I don't suppose they'd do that nowadays and if they did, I don't think I'd want to take a ride.

It is so quiet and unspoilt here at this time of year though I'm sure it's a different story in the summer when tourists arrive to go hiking, fishing and sailing. I prefer to travel when there are few other people around as it's more atmospheric and you can get a better sense of what life is like for the people who live in these places.

I'm here for another day and then back on the train to Ulan-Bator, capital of Mongolia. It'll be so different from Siberia but probably just as cold! I don't really know what to expect but I've got time to read my guidebook before I get there. Hopefully I'll be able to find an Internet café so I can write the next instalment of my Trans-Siberian adventure.

Dayton High School is celebrating its centenary this year. In this article, former students share their memories of their school years.

‘I just remember being completely terrified on my first day at Dayton High’ recalls former Head Girl, Julia Franks. ‘Everyone was so grown up and all the classrooms seemed so big but the teachers were all very kind and patient so we soon settled down and I look back over my years there with great affection.’

Leonie Brand, however, doesn’t share these warm memories. ‘From the moment I stepped through the door into my new classroom, I felt uncomfortable. It was a steep learning curve for me because my parents had educated me at home until I was 11. I don’t think I ever really fitted in so my parents decided to take me away after a term when they realised things weren’t improving.’

For academic children like Cora Dyson, the school was perfect. ‘The more homework, the better! That’s what I thought in those days. I was like a sponge and wanted to learn everything. No doubt everyone thought I was the teacher’s pet and maybe I was but I didn’t care.’

‘I don’t really remember that much about school except that we had to learn loads of poems by heart. Our English teacher was a great fan of 19th century literature and poetry so she would make us learn endless poems and then recite them in front of the class. I hated it because I could never remember all the words and she would invariably get annoyed with me,’ said Joe Sexton.

Clare Howard used to envy the girls who made everything look so easy. ‘I remember one girl in particular, Stella, who passed all her exams with flying colours. How did she do it I would ask myself. She had everything. She was pretty, popular, funny and intelligent while I had to study so hard to do well.’

‘It’s funny but when I was at school I was really bad at French grammar though I found it quite easy to pick up the slang when we went on a school trip to Paris,’ remembers Lucy Freeman. ‘I think it had something to do with the fact that our French teacher wasn’t very interesting so we didn’t pay attention in class.’

- 0 Who didn’t find exams easy? Clare Howard
 - 1 Who was probably the favourite of her teachers? _____
 - 2 Who has a bad memory? _____
 - 3 Who found it hard to settle down? _____
 - 4 Who found it easier to learn outside the classroom? _____
 - 5 Who remembers her teachers as good people? _____

Hi Laura

Hope all’s well with you and the family. I’ve been meaning to write to you for ages but a lot’s been going on and I wanted to wait until I was more settled before I sent you this email.

You probably heard from Tina that things weren't going too well at work. I didn't get the promotion I'd applied for after my boss left and the person who got the job was a nightmare. I don't think anyone liked her and she certainly made my life very difficult. I found I was working incredibly long hours and taking work home because I didn't want her to criticise me. Of course that meant that I wasn't paying enough attention to Mike and the children.

Jack has just started at secondary school and he's at that difficult age where he wants more independence but he's still just a kid. You know what it's like! Hannah has been great though and I'm very grateful that she has been so patient – it can't have been easy for her either.

After a few months I decided to take the plunge and quit. I went into the office and told my boss that I wanted to leave and as soon as I'd spoken the words I felt so relieved. I walked out of the office a new woman. Of course a few days later I started to wonder whether I'd made the right decision so I made an appointment to see a life coach who was really great. In just two hours she managed to give me a new sense of focus. We made lots of lists and now I have a plan for the way forward and have never been happier.

I get up every day now with a feeling of excitement instead of panic and I spend my time doing what I love – cooking. Who would have thought that I'd be able to make money doing something as simple and as enjoyable as preparing food for children's birthday parties?

It's taken time to get to where I am now but if I hadn't hated my job so much I wouldn't have had the courage to quit and start a new path. I only wish I'd done it sooner but, as they say, better late than never.

I hope you'll come and visit soon. You can help me with some new ideas for birthday cakes.

Love to everyone

The best job in the world?

Choosing a career is surely one of the most important decisions we'll ever have to make. (0) ____ a ____ With one click on a website we can apply for jobs on the other side of the world in the hope of making our dreams come true.

(1) _____. The job was for six months and involved living on Hamilton Island on the Great Barrier Reef and looking after the environment there. Not only was there a very good salary but the perks included a beachside mansion boasting magnificent ocean views as well as a private swimming pool. Not surprisingly there were thousands of applicants from all over the world. After a few months, the candidates were down to the final 16 and these lucky few were flown over to the Island for the final selection process. (2) _____

Paradise was, however, not quite the dream he had anticipated. Instead of relaxing in the sun, Ben had very little time for any relaxation as he found himself working seven days a week and up to 19 hours a day. He had a demanding schedule involving promotional events, press conferences and administration and by the end of his contract, he had visited 90 exotic locations, made 47 video diaries and given more than 250 media interviews including a chat with Oprah Winfrey. (4) _____

As part of his job he posted more than 75,000 words in 60 separate blogs, uploaded more than 2,000 photos and tweeted more than 730 times. Trying not to look down!

An adventure in memory of my grandfather

0 a

I've always been afraid of heights. Even climbing up a ladder to change a light bulb or paint the ceiling makes me feel quite sick, so imagine everyone's surprise when I announced that I would be trekking to Everest Base Camp which is over 5,000 metres above sea level. Well, it's all about overcoming your fears and challenging yourself, isn't it?

1 _____

I've wanted to raise money for charity for a long time and when I saw an advertisement in the paper I jumped at the chance and I'd signed up. Of course as soon as I'd made my decision, I started to panic. What was I thinking? I'd never be able to get fit enough. I wouldn't be able to cope.

2 _____

What kept me going, however, was the thought that I was doing this for my grandfather who was such a great influence on me as a child. I miss him every day and I felt that this would be the best way to commemorate his life as he was a great adventurer and used to tell me stories of his travels around the world. He'd always wanted to see the great mountain but had never managed to get there.

3 _____

Training was hard but I was determined to carry on. I went to the gym several times a week and went jogging after work. Not only that, I also had to raise money for the charity. I sent out letters to everyone I knew and I asked my colleagues to sponsor me. I held coffee mornings and even went to the local schools to give talks.

4 _____

And finally departure day arrived and soon we were standing in Lukla, at the foot of the mountain, ready to start our trek. Although I was physically fit, nothing could have prepared me for the mental challenge. I had to face my fear of heights every single moment. Crossing rope bridges hundreds of feet above raging rivers made my stomach turn but I carried on and thought of how proud my grandfather would have been.

5 _____

I would say that all the climbers went through some personal highs and lows but I'm proud to say that I achieved everything I set out to do. I raised money for those who've had a difficult start in life and I've done something that no-one believed I could do. In fact, I felt so good when I came back that I started to look for new challenges and am now thinking of running in next year's London Marathon. Watch this space ...

Only is lonely – or is it?

by Sally MacFarlane

I was brought up as an only child, the daughter of two intellectual, emotionally absent parents who believed that children should be seen and not heard. On the surface perhaps not the best start in life, but there were many advantages to this rather isolated upbringing.

(1) _____ They were both successful writers who worked long hours and then often had to travel abroad to attend conferences and give talks. As a consequence I was left in the capable hands of an endless stream of nannies.

Once I started going to primary school, however, the focus of my world changed and I found that I enjoyed being challenged, learning new things every day. (2) _____ If I could show them the progress I was making, we had some point of contact. They weren't really interested in my social development, more my academic skills.

At first I was shy and introverted, although I think I probably came across as rather arrogant. It's just that I was not accustomed to spending so many hours every day in the company of others and I'd grown to depend on myself for my own entertainment. I spent hours creating stories for all my imaginary friends to star in.

(3) _____ How could you be lonely when you had all this?

Most of my friends had brothers and sisters and I could see that they sometimes felt sorry that I was often alone. I, on the other hand, felt sorry for them in a way as they had to compete with one another for attention and possessions. (4) _____

The years passed and I continued to do well at school. I passed all my exams and went on to university and strangely enough followed in my parents' footsteps. (5) _____ It is now, as an adult with children of my own, I look back and wish I'd had brothers and sisters.

A I quickly realised too that this was the way to engage my parents.

B I at least did not have to do that.

- C There is, however, one big difference and that is my family life.
 D Even when my parents were around, they weren't – if you know what I mean.
 E I had a room full of books as well and could happily spend all weekend in other worlds.
 F I don't think I really appreciated what I had at the time.

School days are the happiest days of your lives

St Anthony's School is celebrating its centenary this year so we are inviting all of our former students to write in with memories of their time with us. We look forward to hearing what you have to say.

Philip

I vividly remember my first day at school. I walked through the main doors and felt so small. I'd been at a village school before starting at St Anthony's so it was quite a shock to the system. Everyone seemed so much older than me and everyone seemed to know what they were doing and where they were going. Whenever I start something new, I'm reminded of that awful sinking feeling. I don't suppose it'll ever go away.

Marianne

My favourite subject was English because I really liked our teacher. She was so passionate about literature so we all just got caught up in her enthusiasm. At the start of every lesson she would read us a short extract from whatever it was that she was reading at the time. She also encouraged us to write for ourselves and I can honestly say that I wouldn't be a teacher myself if it hadn't been for her influence and encouragement.

Luke

To be honest, I don't have happy memories of my time at the school. I was a very introverted child and had always found it hard to make friends. Everyone seemed so sporty and competitive and I just didn't fit in. Looking back, I wish I'd told my parents how unhappy I was instead of staying put. The one saving grace, as far as I'm concerned, was the library. Whenever we had a break I just went there and studied.

Graham

I'm not really academic so I don't see the point of learning all about physics and history and all that kind of stuff. From my point of view it would have been far better if we'd done a few vocational subjects something that's actually useful if you want to go out and get a job. I dropped out when I was 16 and got myself an apprenticeship with a local building company. I don't think the teachers were particularly interested in anyone who didn't want to go to university but I still see some of my classmates from time to time.

Kate

One of my best memories is our trip to Berlin. We'd been studying German for four years. There were fifteen of us so it was a good number. A couple of parents came along as well and we all stayed in a small hostel in the city centre. It was so good to be able to practise what we'd spent so long learning in the classroom. And amazingly people actually understood us!

Who ...

 - 4 was inspired to go into the teaching profession? _____

- 0 One thing in common

Look on the Internet and you will find thousands of websites dedicated to extreme sports, from mountain boarding to barefoot waterskiing, sky surfing to white-water kayaking. Although these sports are all very different, they do all have one thing in common and that is a high level of inherent danger.

- 1 _____

Whether on land, water, or in the air, these sports involve speed, height, a high level of physical exertion and spectacular stunts. One of the most extreme of these extreme sports is base jumping. BASE stands for Buildings, Aerials, Spans (bridges) and Earth, so basically anything that is tall enough to allow someone to jump off. There are people risking life and limb all over the world and they been doing so since the 1990s when the sport really started to take off.

- 2 _____

Dan 'the Man' Witchalls is Britain's premier base jumper, a veteran with ten years' experience. He is a roofer by profession, an appropriate line of work for someone addicted to heights. 'I can't drive past a new building or crane without thinking, maybe, maybe ...' he says. His business card shows him in his trademark jade-and-white jumpsuit, leaping from the Petronas Twin Towers in Kuala Lumpur. It reads: 'Extreme Roofing'.

- 3 _____ While for many sportsmen, base jumping is like an act of personal rebellion, to Witchalls it is not. He claims that he does it because it's fun. At his house there are two places dedicated to base: a room filled with photographs of his most impressive jumps with every building named and dated, and the room where he keeps his equipment.

- 4 _____

The room full of photos, while highlighting Witchalls' triumphs, also serves as a sad reminder of just how dangerous this sport can be. There are six orders of service from the funerals of jumpers he has known, including Angus 'Gus' Hutchison-Brown, a popular British jumper who died in Switzerland in 2009. Over 150 people have died over the years and the list of near-fatal injuries is quite horrific yet the sport goes on with people always looking for greater challenges.

So, how do you go about becoming an officially-recognised base jumper? You can apply for an official number when you've carried out all four genres of jumps successfully (building, aerial, span and earth). At the moment about 1,400 base numbers have been allocated, but none to women. I wonder if this means anything?!

One thing in common

- A The signs of success
- B The derivation of BASE
- C The cost in human terms
- D Qualifications needed
- E A well-known expert?

Last month we asked our readers to write and tell us about a special relationship in their lives. Thank you to everyone who wrote in; we enjoyed reading all your stories. Over the next few weeks, we'll be publishing some of your entries.

A friend for life

My friends have always been incredibly important to me as I'm an only child but one friend in particular, Clare, has always been special to me. We've known each other for almost twenty years and we met when we were both teaching at the same school. As soon as she introduced herself I knew that we would be friends. It was clear that we were very much on the same wavelength and had a lot in common - we're both very keen on sports amongst other things and after a couple of months we decided to share a flat together.

What is it that makes her such a good friend? Well, she's totally dependable, funny, tolerant, generous, kind-hearted and almost always upbeat. I can honestly say that in all the years I've known her we've hardly ever fallen out and if we have an argument, we make up very quickly. I really enjoy her company and we can spend hours together just messing around. We have the same sense of humour and spend a lot of time laughing at the silliest things.

Unfortunately, I had to move away recently because I'd been offered a new teaching job. I was worried that we might lose touch as we're no longer in the same country but we've managed to stay as close as ever. Clare is really good at keeping in touch with her family and friends and thanks to phone and email we're able to speak or write to one another almost every day.

Last year she invited me to Canada during the summer holiday to spend time with her family. It was so good to see where she grew up. Her childhood was so different from mine as she was brought up in the country while I grew up in a big city. She's the oldest of six children and the only one who didn't stay close to home so when she goes home she has a lot of catching up to do.

I can't imagine her not being in my life and I must say that I feel incredibly lucky to have her as a friend.

Avatar (2009)

One of the most successful films of all time, Avatar (directed by James Cameron) tells the story of a reluctant hero who sets off on an epic adventure to save the alien world he has learned to call home. Now available in 3-D and 2-D this visually spectacular film is a must-see for all the family with important messages for both young and old.

The Proposal (2009)

An ambitious and obnoxious boss (played by Sandra Bullock) hears that she will have to return to Canada as her visa has run out. To avoid deportation, she forces her young assistant (Ryan Reynolds) to marry her so that she can stay in the United States legally. After many crazy adventures to prove to his family that they do actually love one another, they finally really fall in love. This is a good old-fashioned feel-good comedy which is the perfect vehicle for both stars.

A Nightmare on Elm Street (2010)

As a fan of horror films, I was looking forward to this remake of the Wes Craven cult classic which first appeared on our screens almost twenty years ago. Terrifying when it first came out, this remake, however, doesn't compare in any way. The special effects are laughable and the acting is wooden. I'd recommend watching the original any day and I certainly hope they don't bother to remake the others.

The Young Victoria (2009)

Nominated for three Academy Awards and winner of Best Costume Design, this is a perfectly crafted period drama. The film stars Emily Blunt as the young Queen Victoria and Rupert Friend as her husband Albert. It tells the story of the first few years of her reign with all the dramas and emotions that a young woman in her position would have to face. The acting by both young stars is excellent and totally believable.

The Notebook (2004)

If you enjoy sickly sweet romantic films that unashamedly tug on the heart strings to make you cry, then this is most definitely the film for you. From the moment the film begins you know where it is taking you. Boy meets girl. Boy is poor and girl is rich. Girl's parents don't approve. Fast forward to years later ... Have your box of tissues to hand!

The Bourne Ultimatum (2007)

This is the third in the Bourne series starring the excellent Matt Damon. Filmed on location in Tangier, London, Paris, Madrid, Berlin and New York City, the story is fast-paced but to my mind rather confusing. My concentration was disturbed by the hand-held camera effect which meant that the film was constantly 'shaking'. I appreciate that this was supposed to heighten the tension but I found it almost impossible to focus in places.

Luke

I'm a student so I really can't afford to waste money. I have a part-time job during term time and then work full-time during the holidays. Even then it's hard but if you shop around, you really can find some good bargains. I always go shopping at the end of the day when a lot of food is reduced because it has reached its sell-by date. It's amazing how much you can save that way.

Marek

I've just moved to the UK. When I arrived I didn't have any furniture but someone told me about the 'freecycle' scheme and I've managed to get almost everything I need without spending any money. Basically, if you have something you don't want any more, you advertise it on the freecycle website and then anyone who wants it must agree to come and collect it. No-one makes any money so it really is a good exchange.

Akiko

I love shopping but I also enjoy buying things that are good value for money so I always wait until the sales are on. In some shops you can get as much as 70% off if you go at the right time. I probably don't save any money in the end though as I usually buy more things because I'm so pleased to have got a bargain!

Stella

We live way out in the country so I don't often manage to get to the shops and to be honest, I don't really have the time but if I do need something, I check out the price comparison websites and of course eBay. At first I was a little nervous about shopping on-line but now I'm hooked.

Jon

A lot of people these days seem to buy clothes, wear them a couple of times and then give them to charity shops so that's where I do my shopping. You can get some really good stuff and you know that your money is helping other people so it's a win-win situation in my opinion.

Paul

I must admit I don't think too much about how or where I shop but the one thing I try to do is save money on electricity and gas in the house. In the winter when it's really cold, instead of turning up the temperature I put on another sweater and I close the doors. I encourage the children to turn off the lights when they leave the room and we don't leave the TV or computer on standby as that uses up unnecessary energy.

atmosphere location menu prices recommendation service

One of the things I enjoy most about travelling is that I get the chance to visit restaurants all over the world. I have been very fortunate over the years as I have tried all kinds of regional delicacies and specialities.

0 location

Earlier this year my wife and I spent a few days on the Black Sea coast in Bulgaria. One of the highlights of our trip was an evening at a traditional restaurant which had wonderful views over the sea. The restaurant itself was right in the centre of the old part of the town and you could only get to it on foot.

1 _____

As soon as we arrived, we were welcomed by a charming waiter, Georgi, who showed us to a table in the window and immediately offered us a welcome drink. Although the menu was in English as well as Bulgarian, we asked for some recommendations as we didn't recognise any of the dishes. Georgi kindly explained what the specialities of the restaurant were so we took his advice and ordered a good variety.

2 _____

The food was excellent. We had a selection of starters or 'meze' including a yoghurt and cucumber salad, salami, vine leaves stuffed with rice and meat and a dip made of aubergine and mayonnaise, all served with freshly baked bread. We both had grilled fish and salad for the main course and this was followed by 'baklava', a deliciously sweet dessert made of nuts, pastry and syrup.

3 _____

The restaurant filled up quite quickly after we arrived. There was a band playing traditional music for most of the evening. This wasn't to everyone's taste but it was certainly very lively and colourful.

4 _____

When the bill came I was pleasantly surprised. I had expected to pay more considering the popularity of the restaurant and its situation. I suppose you might have to pay more during the summer when there are lots of tourists but it was a very good deal for us.

5 _____

For anyone interested in experiencing the true taste of Bulgaria, I think this would be an ideal place to go. I would, however, suggest eating early if you don't like loud music during your meal.

1 It tells the story of Susan Boyle's life and rise to stardom as a singer.

2 It argues that we shouldn't judge people until we get to know them.

3 It uses the story of Susan Boyle to show that we often judge people by appearances.

Don't judge a book by its cover

Most people agree with this well-known saying but few follow its advice. For the truth is that, whether we like it or not, our brains are programmed to make immediate judgements based almost solely on first impressions. Scientists argue that this is a survival mechanism which dates from humanity's early history - a time when the world was full of danger and it was necessary for people to make instant life-or-death decisions. The strength of our tendency to judge by appearances has recently been illustrated by the incredible story of Susan Boyle, an unemployed Scottish woman who shot to international stardom after appearing on a TV talent show. Her appearance on the show became one of the most popular videos on YouTube, with more than 200 million viewings. Her debut CD sold more than 9 million copies within six weeks of its release. In fact, Boyle's appearance on Britain's Got Talent was one of the most memorable and surprising moments in recent TV history. Most of the performers on the talent show are young hopefuls. Some have talent but many are simply good-looking youngsters who dream of becoming pop stars but have no musical ability or background. On one particular show, a rather plain, middle-aged woman with an unflattering hairstyle and an old-fashioned dress appeared on stage. If you watch the YouTube clip, you will see what happens next ... The audience looks bemused - what is someone like this doing on a show where most contestants are in their teens or early 20s? In a strong Scottish accent, the woman tells the judges that her name is Susan, she comes from a small village near Glasgow, she's 47, and wants to become a professional singer. The audience prepares itself for an embarrassing display by another self-deluded wannabe. What hope does someone like this have of becoming a star? Then Susan opens her mouth and begins to sing. A gasp of amazement goes up from the audience, for the contrast between her homely appearance and powerful soaring voice is almost overpowering. They begin to clap and scream. Within a few moments, most of the audience are on their feet, giving Susan Boyle a standing ovation. For many viewers, it was the unexpected dichotomy between Boyle's physical appearance and her prodigious talent that was so memorable. But why should it be such a shock that someone like Susan Boyle can have a wonderful and rare talent? The truth is, however sophisticated we believe we are, we still make instant judgements based purely on outward appearances. If someone doesn't look beautiful, we still find it difficult to believe that they can have a beautiful voice. Last month we asked our readers to write and tell us about a special relationship in their lives. Thank you to everyone who wrote in; we enjoyed reading all your stories. Over the next few weeks, we'll be publishing some of your entries.

Asian Shopping

Visitors to London, New York and Los Angeles often remark on how easy it is to buy (1) things at any time of the day. It isn't the well-known department stores, large supermarkets or huge shopping malls that they are talking about but those tiny shops (2) _____. Americans call 'convenience stores' and the British call 'corner shops'. They may not always be situated on corners, but they are certainly convenient for tourists and for those city-dwellers who work long hours and don't have time to shop during the day. As people in large cities work longer and longer hours the availability of late-night shopping has become a necessity rather than a luxury. (3) _____ other thing that sometimes causes surprise is that these shops are rarely owned or staffed by local people. The English-sounding names of 'Super Saver', 'Bargain Supplies' or 'Mini-market' b Replace the underlined words and phrases in the sentences (1-8) with words and phrases from the article. 1 Harrods is a famous department store in London. 2 They've just bought a large house. _____ 3 People who live in the country are sometimes more relaxed than people who live in a city. 4 We hardly ever take holidays. _____ 5 The government is considering changing the law on people moving to this country from another one. _____ 6 My parents own and manage a dry cleaning business. _____ 7 I have never understood the financial basis of international trade. _____ 8 The origin of the River Nile is in Uganda. give no clue to the origin of the people working inside the store. In fact, they often seem to be staffed by (4) people from various parts of Asia. Their nationalities often reflect the history of immigration to the country concerned, and they frequently come from nations with a reputation for successful trade and shop-keeping. In New York and Los Angeles it is often Koreans and Chinese who run these stores and in London it is people from the Indian sub-continent. But what are the economics of such places? How can tiny shops make any profit when employees have to be paid to work (5) such long hours? (6) answer lies partly in the Asian culture of hard work, but is mainly due to the tradition of the extended family. This is very different from the typical Western family in which the individual members have separate lives and careers. When (7) Asian family owns a shop everyone gets involved - brothers, sisters, uncles, aunts, cousins, grandparents and children - everybody is expected to work behind the counter. Thus there is (8) guaranteed source of staff available to work from early morning until late at (9) night. And rather than being paid salaries, the members of the family simply share in (10) profits at the end of the year. It is a recipe that has brought wealth to many immigrant families and made life a lot easier for those of us who run out of milk at 11 o'clock on a Sunday evening!

- 1 What does the word guilt in the title refer to?
- 2 Why is the weight of the sculpture significant?
- 3 What happens to 90% of Europe's electronic waste?

Sculpture of Guilt

I love shopping but I also enjoy buying things that are good value for money so I always wait until the sales are on. In some shops you can get as much as 70% off if you go at the right time. I probably don't save any money in the end though as I usually buy more things because I'm so pleased to have got a bargain!

This is 'Weee Man', a terrifying metal and plastic sculpture created by Paul Bonomini from discarded computers, electronic components and domestic products. Commissioned by the Royal Society of Arts (RSA), the sculpture stands 24 feet (7 metres) high beside the river Thames in London and serves as a shocking reminder of the huge amount of waste produced by today's extravagant high-tech society. The main body of the figure includes three washing machines, five fridges, seven vacuum cleaners, 35 mobile phones and 12 kettles, plus assorted microwaves, televisions, radiators and sections of ducting and cabling. The artist has ingeniously created the head from a combination of surprising elements. The teeth are in fact computer mice, the eyes are washing machine doors and the ears are satellite dishes. The name of the sculpture, 'Weee', comes from the phrase Waste Electrical and Electronic Equipment, and its weight, 3.3 tonnes, is the same as the weight of electrical equipment thrown away by an average person in a life time. The RSA hopes that the sculpture will encourage recycling by dramatically reminding us of the sheer quantity of products we throw away unnecessarily. Citizens of the European Union currently produce 6.5 million tonnes of electronic waste a year, most of which ends up in landfill sites or is incinerated. A mere 10% is recycled.

Reading

10 Read these film reviews and choose the correct answers.

Avatar (2009)

One of the most successful films of all time, Avatar (directed by James Cameron) tells the story of a reluctant hero who sets off on an epic adventure to save the alien world he has learned to call home. Now available in 3-D and 2-D this visually spectacular film is a must-see for all the family with important messages for both young and old.

The Proposal (2009)

An ambitious and obnoxious boss (played by Sandra Bullock) hears that she will have to return to Canada as her visa has run out. To avoid deportation, she forces her young assistant (Ryan Reynolds) to marry her so that she can stay in the United States legally. After many crazy adventures to prove to his family that they do actually love one another, they finally really fall in love. This is a good old-fashioned feel-good comedy which is the perfect vehicle for both stars.

A Nightmare on Elm Street (2010)

As a fan of horror films, I was looking forward to this remake of the Wes Craven cult classic which first appeared on our screens almost twenty years ago. Terrifying when it first came out, this remake, however, doesn't compare in any way. The special effects are laughable and the acting is wooden. I'd recommend watching the original any day and I certainly hope they don't bother to remake the others.

The Young Victoria (2009)

Nominated for three Academy Awards and winner of Best Costume Design, this is a perfectly crafted period drama. The film stars Emily Blunt as the young Queen Victoria and Rupert Friend as her husband Albert. It tells the story of the first few years of her reign with all the dramas and emotions that a young woman in her position would have to face. The acting by both young stars is excellent and totally believable.

The Notebook (2004)

If you enjoy sickly sweet romantic films that unashamedly tug on the heart strings to make you cry, then this is most definitely the film for you. From the moment the film begins you know where it is taking you. Boy meets girl. Boy is poor and girl is rich. Girl's parents don't approve. Fast forward to years later ... Have your box of tissues to hand!

The Bourne Ultimatum (2007)

This is the third in the Bourne series starring the excellent Matt Damon. Filmed on location in Tangier, London, Paris, Madrid, Berlin and New York City, the story is fast-paced but to my mind rather confusing. My concentration was disturbed by the hand-held camera effect which meant that the film was constantly 'shaking'. I appreciate that this was supposed to heighten the tension but I found it almost impossible to focus in places.
